College Counseling, Skills Training, Prep Courses, Essay Editing & More

At Shanghai EDGE Consulting, we offer personalized training for students to boost their skillset, prepare for exams, and maximize their potential to meet the demands of higher learning. We also assist students with choosing and applying to the right schools and universities within the US and abroad. They'll gain the knowledge and abilities necessary to improve themselves... and their results. And for adult learners, our many courses are geared toward helping them improve workplace performance or advance in their professional career. Explore our website, learn about our programs, and let's create great opportunities together!

Building Essential Skills

Our range of prep courses offers greater long-term benefits: students will learn to think critically, be creative, and how to write and communicate more effectively, which will serve them well into their career.
