Hello Laura, Simo B, and Gabrielle B,

No, the financial institution does NOT have 90 days to respond, they must respond with a reasonable time frame, usually under 9 days is the law.

According to the Ombudsman, the complaint must be filed after 90 days, but I am making an exception due to market volatility of crypto currency and me seeing a clear indication of complete market crash which I believe is intentionally setup by a criminal terrorist organization. This notwithstanding, with crypto currency there is a high likelihood people can have their funds taken from them within this 3 month time frame, and the Ombudsman is responsible for the safety of the general public first and foremost so I as a concerned public citizen have made an exception to report this early so that public institutions can act within due diligence and PROTECT Canadians in accordance to the rules set forth in Ontario Security Commission Laws.

I appreciate all relevant agents forwarding to you, and you again repeating the same thing as Simo B, as now I can hold all parties accountable for the situations set forth in my grievances. A stated to Simo B, and Gabrielle B, I will repeat for you directly.

1. All official correspondence between Crypto.com, the "complaint letter" being submitted to Crypto.com through their official application being made with an official Crypto.com support representative. The images of discussions of the complaint between Crypto.com and I have now been forwarded directly to your care through your agents as you stated.
2. If you still require a print of the "official documentation" and for it to be delivered in print, please forward to me personally this seemingly out of place request, along with your official office address, and employee ID number, or Full name for delivery.
- 3.

In regards to my submission to the Ombudsman, please note the formal complaint about Simo B. and now all relevant agents in charge of this case.

- "1. The complaint letter you sent to FORIS DAX CAN ULC, or the date on which you called in to make your complaint.
2. The final decision letter from FORIS DAX CAN ULC's complaint-handling office"

To note

1. No formal call, or complaint letter is required to an entity registered with the Securities commission operating in Ontario, only clear evidence that official business channels were used to initiate a complaint, and resolution was followed up on in a timely fashion. Typically 9 days is sufficient in cases of clear evidence.
2. No formal decision letter from FORIS DAX CAN ULC is required from an official support channel in which the evidence was provided for corrective measures.

In the matter of note 2, requesting a formal decision letter, is highly suspicious behavior which can be misconstrued, and seen, as potential collusion between a government agency and a private investment entity.

In the matter of 1, the official address of FORIS DAX CAN ULC, leads to what seems is an empty office. Crypto.com does not have a phone number for an "official complaint". Crypto.com uses an app controlled complaint filing and reporting system which your agent, and now you, are not accepting information from which is again, highly suspicious behavior, and also seemingly in collusion with an entity which has clearly defrauded funds.

While the Ombudsmans office is in general immune from court trials, in situations where clear evidence provided is ignored, or disregarded, there are indeed exceptions, and the evidence I am presenting to the Ombudsman office in regards to Crypto.com is overwhelming in the case of fraud, negligence, and failure to follow Ontario regulations for securities / assets / access to legal tender.

This is a second formal complaint letter to resolve the outstanding matter. After asking for all superiors contact information it seems nobody is willing to take responsibility for this case, which again shows potential criminal involvement and collusion of agencies. Your refusal to accept already forwarded supporting evidence, is suspicious at best due to neither party accepting the information, yet previous agents admit to willingly accepting directly forwarded files, yet now you repeating you need what "Simo B" repeated to start with which was admitted an error that direct digital media would be accepted during our correspondence. That said, and notwithstanding, the images have been attached to the emails for you and your agents review.

I trust these matters will be taken seriously, and in accordance to proper procedure on the matter, not only for myself, but for other Canadians who have been defrauded in matters between MEXC, and now what highly seems in collusion with FORIS DAX CAN ULC.

If not, there is legal precedent at this juncture, in these matters which can be taken moving forward.

Best regards,
Mark Lepore

Good day Gabrielle,

In regards to my submission to the Ombudsman, this is a formal complaint in regards to your agent "Simo B".

I have provided a comprehensive document outlining the dates, times, illegal movement of my funds / investments, theft, and fraud in regards to FORIS DAX CAN ULC (operating as Crypto.com) to your agent, and the response received from "Simo B", I quote

- "1. The complaint letter you sent to FORIS DAX CAN ULC, or the date on which you called in to make your complaint
2. The final decision letter from FORIS DAX CAN ULC's complaint-handling office"

To note

1. No formal call, or complaint letter is required to an entity registered with the Securities commission operating in Ontario, only clear evidence that official business channels were used to initiate a complaint, and resolution was followed up on in a timely fashion. Typically 9 days is sufficient in cases of clear evidence.
2. No formal decision letter from FORIS DAX CAN ULC is required from an official support channel in which the evidence was provided for corrective measures.

In the matter of note 2, requesting a formal decision letter, is highly suspicious behavior which can be misconstrued, and seen, as potential collusion between a government agency and a private investment entity.

In the matter of 1, the official address of FORIS DAX CAN ULC is in the USA, which leads to what seems is an empty office. Crypto.com does not have a phone number for a "official complaint". Crypto.com uses an app controlled complaint filing and reporting system which your agent did not accept information from which is again, highly suspicious behavior.

While the Ombudsmans office is in general immune from court trials, in situations where clear evidence provided is ignored, or disregarded, there are indeed exceptions, and the evidence I am presenting to the Ombudsman office in regards to Crypto.com is overwhelming in the case of fraud, negligence, and failure to follow Ontario regulations for securities / assets / access to legal tender.

This is a formal complaint letter to resolve the outstanding matter with agent "Simo B". After asking for your contact information (his superiors contact information), his current change of reasoning is that images and supporting evidence can't be downloaded from my google drive, is suspicious at best due to him not stating as such during our initial correspondence. That said, and notwithstanding, the images will be attached to the next email for you and your agents review.

I trust these matters will be taken seriously, and in accordance to proper procedure on the matter, not only for myself, but for other Canadians who have been defrauded in matters between MEXC, and now what highly seems in collusion with FORIS DAX CAN ULC.

Best regards,
Mark Lepore
